The purpose of Moneywise is to help raise people financially to live in financial freedom. In my opinion, the information in the course is worth approximately R15 000 should you seek it from financial advisors! In combination with your practical cooperation, the course will literally save you tens of thousands of rand, as well as help you to make a few million. The course consists of approximately 40 hours' mentorship over a period of three months, to which it is almost impossible to attach a price. Professional financial advisors, who work with the kind of information included in the training, will ask you at least R1000 per hour. The professional tariff at the moment in Johannesburg is R6000 – R12 000 per session!

The purpose of Moneywise is to set you free from a poverty mentality, help you see money through God's eyes, bring order in your financial life and teach you to create wealth! The first step to freedom is to invest in yourself. You owe it to yourself to break free and enjoy God's wealth on earth!
